

Booktober fest 2011 K-12 Writing Challenge

Booktoberfest Writing Contest PROJECT LITERACY

October 8th, University of Phoenix

Borderline Publishing in conjunction with University of Phoenix is offering a short story writing contest for students grade K-12. Award ceremony to be held at the Booktoberfest Fair on October 8, 2011.

- Winning submission will be published in an anthology.
- Finalists will be judged by published children's authors, college writing professors, and school English teachers.
- Winners will be awarded a savings bond.
- Winning student's teacher also receives bookstore gift certificate.
- Each qualifier will receive a copy of the published anthology.

Rules for entry:

1. The entry must be the student's own work.
2. The entry should be a short story between 500-1,500 words.
3. The entry should be unpublished and original work of the student.
4. The entry may be handwritten or typed.
5. If typed, entry should be double spaced.
6. Entry should not have student's name on it, but should be attached to entry form with student's information.

Booktoberfest
406 S 3rd Street
Boise, ID 83702

Admin@borderlinepublishing.com

(208) 475-4950

7. Entry should follow the art of storytelling: the main character should have a challenge or obstacle to overcome and the story should include the journey of arriving at a solution.
8. Submissions should be sent to: Booktoberfest Writing Contest, 406 S 3rd Street, Boise ID 83702 or emailed to Admin@borderlinepublishing.com.
9. Submissions must be postmarked no later than September 16, 2011. Entries are welcome all summer long. Only one entry per student, please.
10. No submission fee is required.
11. Entrants must be from Ada or Canyon County, Idaho.

October 8, 2011 the event will have booths for local vendors and give-aways. Agape Assistance will be on hand for donations. Any money received from the October 8th event will be donated to Agape Assistance and the CATCH charity in support of our area's children and families.

Please help us, help our children.